

Save Thousands on Groceries and More

Ad Matching Sites

These sites match newspaper coupons, magazine inserts, and online coupons with existing sales. Remember to support their sites by clicking on coupon download links and other advertisements that interest you. Here are my favorites:

<http://www.bargainbeliever.com/blog/>

<http://www.couponmom.com/>

<http://www.pinchinyourpennies.com/forums/> (specifically the screaming deals by state forum)

<http://www.hotcouponworld.com/forums/forum.php> (specifically the store deals forums)

Coupon Sites

If you're using an ad-matching site, please click the links on their website or blog to download coupons. Often times they will get a small payment for each coupon that's downloaded. That helps financially support these free sites. Otherwise, you can find downloadable coupons here and at the product manufacturer's website.

<http://www.coupons.com/>

<http://www.redplum.com/>

<http://www.smartsource.com/>

<https://savingstar.com/>

Rebate Sites

Rebate sites give you a percentage back in cash or in points each time you make a purchase at an online retailer or go to a restaurant that's on their list. Recently, credit card companies have entered this space. Be sure to check with your credit card company to determine if they have a shopping program.

My favorite rebate sites are listed below in priority order. I always check with one of these sites before making an online purchase, and almost always get 2—20% back in rebates. Some of the links below are referral links and I may receive a gift or small compensation if you sign up.

<https://www.discovercard.com> (must have a Discover card to use Shop Discover)

<http://www.ebates.com>

<http://www.fatwallet.com>

<http://www.upromise.com>